

A Word from the GABC President

Michael Claus

Dear Members and Friends of the GABC,

I hope you all had a good start so far into the year 2009, despite all the bad economical news. The forecasts still don't look bright, but we all have to try and live up to the challenges and keep our heads above the water (Oberkante Unterlippe).

The GABC is now a little more than 20 years old and we went through good times, bad times and difficult times, but in all the years the GABC managed to be and remain the forum for business people in South Florida, who are interested in German-American business relations. It is our promise that we will continue to do our best and remain your business forum and circle in the years to come.

Our alliance with the German American Chamber of Commerce in Atlanta and with it the AHK is a fairly new development and a development which all of our members will benefit from.

During a recent meeting with the GACC Atlanta on Board level, we discussed the first months of our cooperation and the next steps we will be taking. In the months to come we will have more joint events with the GACC and you will also have the possibility to gain more information than ever before, with access to the databases of the GACC. We will report on this in our next Newsletter.

Since we had so much success with joint events together with other European Chambers, we continue this fruitful cooperation and will have another European Cocktail Reception, this time at the Raleigh Hotel on March 12. Please look out for more information which will be given in due time.

Enjoy the nice "winter days" in Miami and please continue to support your GABC. We need you to participate and we will always have an open ear for any kind of recommendation or critic, positive or negative.

I look forward to meet you during one of our next events.

Sincerely,

Michael K. Claus
President

Consul General's Corner

Dear Members and Friends of the GABC, the stimulus package and the foreclosure prevention scheme have been signed. Let's hope they will be a success. The "Buy American" part of the stimulus has been softened, but not completely removed, so unfortunately elements of protectionism remain despite the intervention of the Bernhard Welschke the Representative of German Industry and Trade in Washington together with representatives of a lot of other countries.

Here in Miami we'll have the upcoming SeaTrade – Cruise Shipping fair with an impressive German participation, co-financed by the Federal Ministry of Economics and Technology. The organisers of the German booth and myself will host a reception on March 18. Kristian Wolf from GACC South in Atlanta will also be present.

But also have a look at the Consulate General's cultural calendar. Some interesting events are scheduled for March.

Best wishes,

Klaus Ranner

New: GACC Corner

On January 12th, 2009 a second annual meeting between the GACC South (German American Chamber of Commerce of the Southern US) and the GABC Miami was held at the GABC offices. The two organizations review their first year after the affiliation agreement was signed in March 2008. The affiliation in Spring 2008 marked a new era for both as the communication and exchange of information as well as joint meetings and events was a novum. Both organizations have already profited from this relationship and will further strengthen their cooperation with various planned projects.

Economic survey conducted in January 2009 by the GACC

where members of the GACC and GABC Miami participated:

Guarded Optimism in German American Business Community
GACC Members expect a tough year for the U.S. economy; but remain optimistic about their own companies' futures

Written by Janka Pieper GACC

In the annual German American business economic survey conducted by the German American Chambers of Commerce (GACC) prior to their Annual Economic Forum 2009 held in Rosemont, IL on January 29th, respondents offered a mixed outlook for 2009. The majority of respondents expect to see further declines for the U.S. economy in 2009. Interestingly, when asked about their own companies' prospects, 67% of participating companies expect sales revenues in 2009 either to grow or maintain their current levels, with only 28% expecting current revenues to fall. This optimism is indicative that the majority of respondents feel rather certain that their companies are strong enough to weather this storm.

At the Economic Forum, the two presenting financial experts reiterated the GACC survey respondent's gloomy outlook for the U.S. economy in 2009. Senior Managing Director and Chief Economist Diane Swonk of Mesirow Financial, and Heiko Thieme, Chairman of the American Heritage Management Corporation also both emphasized the fact that a stimulus package needed to be passed by congress as quick as possible to minimize further damage to the economy: "The longer we wait, the bigger it has to be" said Diane Swonk.

While both financial experts see the need for a quick implementation of the stimulus package, 44% of the survey respondents were unsure if their companies are going to benefit from such a package. Ralf Sigrist, President & CEO of Nordex USA, one of the executives at the roundtable discussion at the Economic Forum, expects positive direct results from the stimulus package for his industry renewable energies, as it is atop of Obama's stimulus agenda. The other two executives at the roundtable discussion, Brad Haeberle, VP Marketing at Siemens Building Technologies, and Norbert Weichele, CEO of Zentis Food Solutions North America, both expect to indirectly benefit from the stimulus package. Haeberle hopes to benefit from state supported projects in the construction industry, while Weichele hopes for a decrease in transportation costs due to infrastructure development.

It was also made clear that while for some industries the future looks brighter than for others, access to capital will remain difficult for all borrowers. The majority of the surveyed companies (63%) expect that ease of access to capital in 2009 will remain the same. A quarter of the companies expect access to capital to become increasingly difficult, and only 7% think there is a possibility of improvement. Availability of capital has been a key factor weighing down the economy; even similar credit opportunities for 2009 will make borrowing difficult.

In the midst of layoffs and reduced working hours, GACC and GABC members presented a somewhat positive outlook for their employment numbers. The majority of the participating companies (74%) expect their employment numbers to stay the same or to increase in 2009. However, respondents' employment expectations varied depending on company size or type. 48% of the large companies (check size) expect a decrease in employment in 2009, while only 10% of the small companies (check size) expect this drop. The majority (69%) expects their employment to stay the same and even 21% expect an increase in their employment

Overall, the prospects in the German American business community are better than for the overall U.S. economy, for which a majority of respondents do not expect a turnaround until the end of 2009/beginning of 2010. Heiko Thieme explained: "We are bottoming up and it will get better." Both Thieme and Swonk are positive that the U.S. will be the first region to come out of the recession, closely followed by Europe, and then Asia. "This is a global problem, that requires global solutions", concluded Diane Swonk.

Advertising opportunities on the GABC website

We are always working to improve membership benefits. In this context, we would like to extend the opportunity to our members to increase the visibility of their respective business by offering specific benefits or discounts to other GABC members through different GABC outlets such as website and newsletter.

Examples include offering GABC members discounts on restaurant visits, hotel stays, or other services depending on the nature of your business. Any suggestions are welcome. Please contact us for details on advertising these offers at our website and through our newsletters as well as other publications.

On a separate note, we are also offering advertising opportunities at our website for our members at a discounted rate and at a different rate for non-members.

The GABC website receives regularly between 2000 and 3000 clicks per month from unique visitors from all different kinds of regions and countries, and if you like to hear more about the facts and figures as well as rates, please email us. We have prepared several different sponsoring and advertising packages that are very well priced.

We look forward in working closely with all of you in making your business more visible through all the options that the GABC can offer to you.

Wolfgang Roth & Partners, Fine Art is located in the heart of the Miami Design District at the Newton Building, 2nd Floor- on the corner of NE 2nd Avenue and NE 39th Street

About the Gallery

With the majority of their expertise culled in European cities renowned for their cultural and artistic influences, such as Berlin, Cologne, and Zurich, and over sixty years cumulative experience trading on the global art market, Wolfgang Roth and his partner Reiner Opoku maintain that a gallery's focus should encompass more than just revenue. By combining their resources they have embraced the edifying potential of Miami's culturally thriving art scene. The gallery will serve as a vehicle to establish world-class exhibitions and is committed to positive community engagement and social contributions. With six openings per calendar year featuring both blue chip and leading contemporary works by artists such as Georg Baselitz, Gerhard Richter, Peter Beard, Andy Warhol, and David LaChapelle as well as emerging talents, the venue offers a rare collection of art currently unavailable in the Miami market. Wolfgang Roth & Partners Fine Art will host events such as artist talks, tours, and charitable auctions. In addition, Wolfgang Roth will lead a new lecture series at the gallery on the art of art investing commencing in January of 2009. An art advisor for over thirty years, Roth founded TheArtFund, the only publicly traded art investment fund, which demonstrates the value of art as a high-turnover commodity. Roth will focus on themes on art collecting, the art market and investing during an economic recession.

The art scene in Miami is newly vibrant and full of promise; however, historically it has been rather narrowly focused. Miami has the natural ability to attract people from all over the world and to grab their attention socially. With respect to art, Wolfgang Roth & Partners, Fine Art opened as an attempt to offer a broader perspective to the Miami arts community through unique exhibitions which invite deeper thought about contemporary art - Wolfgang Roth.

Renata Pfuner receives LEED AP Status from US Green Building Council

Renata Pfuner, Principal of Pfuner Design, a contemporary Interior Design Studio in Miami, has successfully passed the required examination to practice as a LEED AP.

The LEED AP abbreviation stands for Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design Accredited Professional and affirms the person's knowledge and ability to apply the latest energy efficiency and environmental technologies to building projects. The certification is awarded by the US Green Building Council (USGBC), which is becoming the internationally recognized standard in the certification of energy efficient and environmentally sound buildings. South Florida currently has a handful of LEED certified buildings and more are planned.

Renata Pfuner has chosen to be certified under the LEED New Building category, which is the most comprehensive of the available paths to LEED accreditation and has the widest possibility of application. Renata Pfuner as a LEED AP and Pfuner Design as a USGBC Member company affirm their ongoing commitment to create sustainable interior designs for residential and boutique commercial projects in South Florida.

"Nowadays, the use of innovative materials makes it easier to combine visual appealing designs and environmentally conscious living. We want to meet the growing demand for sustainability with forward thinking design practices. Improving the indoor air quality, and maximizing the use of natural light throughout spaces are only two examples of how to enhance the quality of life and how to act responsibly for the sake of our environment.", says Renata Pfuner.

Pfuner Design is a full service interior design studio located in the creative heart of Miami, on NW 36th Street, between the Design District and the Wynwood Art District. The project portfolio ranges from Homes and Condos to Spas, Restaurants, Clubs, and Retail projects in South Florida, the US and Europe.

After they already successfully competed in the Harmony Sweepstakes in May, the biggest American contest of its kind, where they were awarded the 1st Prize of the Jury and the Audience Favourite Award in front of 2000 listeners in the sold-out Marin Veterans' Auditorium in San Francisco, they've now also won the biggest Asian a cappella/vocal contest. It's the first prize of the 2008 Taiwan International Contemporary A Cappella Competition, which was held for the eighth time since its inauguration in 2001.

Concerts from vocaldente are something special:

This group presents popular music from the past 8 decades in a classical way called a cappella art. They care for an art which is nearly lost: a cappella without microphones, the vocal experience without technical implements, unplugged, straight and direct, pure and authentic. You'll witness five voices building perfect harmony, from the counter tenor to the bass, as well as vocal imitations of rhythm and musical instruments, embedded in their own lush arrangements; all spiced up with hilariously funny and witty interludes, and performed with sweeping choreographies.
