Global reach with a personal touch

We saw a need in the marketplace for a company based on relationships, ethics, old-school freight forwarding with a modern twist, and a passion for taking care of the customer," says Thomas Jorgensen, Green Worldwide Shipping President & CEO. "These are the principles upon which Green was built.

green story

Global reach with a personal touch. That's the foundation on which four partners (and long-time friends) agreed to when they started Green Worldwide Shipping back in 2008.

After decades of working for large, multi-national forwarders, Thomas Jorgensen, Peter Aaro-Hansen, Edward Chambers, and Rex Sherman became tired of outdated systems and political red tape that failed to deliver the one thing shippers needed: customer service with a flexible supply chain.

And we haven't looked back.

Green Worldwide Shipping is a leader of international logistics, freight forwarding and Customs brokerage.

business, allowing our team to uniquely align with yours.
From the first interaction, Green strives to understand what you need to execute your vision and provide a green difference

CUT THE RED TAPE. While you'd most likely call to rave about our incredible service, Green's flat corporate culture means our President & CEO, Thomas Jorgensen, is only a short call or email away. Problems are not passed from department to department or left in limbo.

PRIVATELY-OWNED, EFFECTIVELY MANAGED. Offices in every continent? Sounds expensive. As a private company, Green simply doesn't have to answer to anyone except our clients. We aren't weighed down by shareholder opinion, costly overhead, or exclusivity contracts.
